

TODAY TONIGHT TOMORROW

by Rachel Lynn Solomon

Published in 2020

Rating (0 stars is the absolute worst, 10 stars is the BEST BOOK EVER)

Genre(s):

Contemporary

Action/adventure

Science Fiction

Fantasy

Romance

Horror

Mystery

Nonfiction

Historical fiction

Other:

Give some noise to the biggest rivals in the city of Seattle: high school Rowan Roth and Neil McNair. Both seniors always found ways to make a contest even in gym class. It's the last day of their senior year they both have the desire to beat one another for the last time. But when Neil is named Valedictorian it didn't sit right with Rowan so she made sure she would win the senior class game. However, when the two nemeses found out they had a group of seniors trying to get them out they had to team up. They make a deal: that until they were the last players they wouldn't destroy each other. But of course, feelings fill the air, and Rowan's biggest rival might be the boy she has been looking for.

The book was written just like I like my enemies to lovers to be. It was slow but not too slow to the point I wanted to stop reading it. It had several parts where it made me laugh and smile. It was easy to connect with the characters and fall in love with them. Hence why I gave this book nine stars and why I think anyone that likes light, comedy, and romance books would love this novel. It gave that same vibe as The Hating Game by Sally Thorne and My Mechanical Romance by Alexane Farol Follmuth. So yes, if you are someone who likes light romance and trying to find a new book to read you should read Today Tonight Tomorrow.

By Sophie S, 8th grade, enjoys reading mystery, fantasy, horror, romance, action/adventure, and nonfiction