In this book by McGovern, it shows the story of two people who have medical conditions that restrict their lives. One has cystic fibrosis and another has depression. Both eventually just fall into dark times till they find a way to cope.

This book was so good and tear-worthy I found this book to be very romantic and is a perfect read! This is personally my favorite romance book and I mostly don't find the genre interesting, but this one was perfect! If you wanna get into this genre of reading I highly recommend to read this book. Of course I didn't say so much about this book just to keep this a better experience to jump right into.
