A lot of things have happened to Henry. His dad left him, his boyfriend killed himself, and he has been abducted by aliens. These aliens have given him a choice to save humanity. Henry doesn't think it deserves to be saved, due to all of the terrible things that have happened in his life. Can his friends get him to want to save humanity before January 29, 2016?

I really liked this book. I thought the story was really good. It really had me thinking about people's mental health and what it leads them to do. The whole dynamic between Henry's family and between his friends was very interesting. I was always wondering how they would try and get Henry to want to save people. 9/10.
